

Newborns

Benefit Coverage

Immediate accident and sickness coverage from and after the moment of birth of each newborn infant of any enrolled subscriber or spouse is provided, as required by the Health and Safety Code (Knox-Keene Act). This immediate accident and sickness coverage includes newborn of enrolled member who is a surrogate mother until the adoptive parents have the right to control the newborn's health care. All other provisions and rules of the plan apply. Newborn must be added as a dependent within the first 31 to avoid a gap in coverage.

IFP: If the parents fail to put in a request to add the child within the first 31 days they will be able to submit an application between the 32nd and 63rd days as this would be a qualifying event under California law for late enrollees who are under age 19.

Note: If the mother is not covered as a subscriber or spouse by the Blue Shield HMO plan, and the newborn qualifies as a dependent of the subscriber, newborn nursery charges are eligible for coverage under the subscriber's inpatient hospital benefits, Coordination of Benefit rules will apply if applicable. This coverage applies regardless of whether the newborn is added to the subscriber's plan.

The Personal Physician selected for a newborn must be in the same IPA or medical group as the mother's Personal Physician during the calendar month of birth. If the mother of the newborn is not enrolled as a subscriber or spouse, the Personal Physician selected must be a physician in the same IPA or medical group as the subscriber during the calendar month of birth. If the child has been placed with the subscriber for adoption, the Personal Physician selected must be a physician in the same IPA or medical group as the subscriber or covered spouse during the calendar month the subscriber has the right to control health care of the child.

The Personal Physician for a newborn may be changed after the birth month. If the newborn is ill or hospitalized during the birth month, the effective date of the new Personal Physician will be the first of the month following discharge from the hospital, or the date it is medically appropriate to transfer care to the new Personal Physician. Exceptions must be approved by the Blue Shield Medical Director.

CalPERS: All newborns, including those of dependent children (grandchildren), are covered for the 1st to 31st days.

Coverage may be continued beyond this time if the required documentation has been received by CalPERS and it has been determined the child meets eligibility requirements. The effective date is never retroactive to the date of birth, but is the 1st of the month following approval by CalPERS.
